

SCENE 2 – INT. BUTCHER'S SHOP – NOON

VIDEO	AUDIO
The door bell. NEVIN (70s, string shopping bag) comes in. She stops in front of the empty counter.	Door bell. Distant traffic hum from the street.
Cemal looks up.	NEVIN: Two hundred grams of mince.
Cemal takes the meat from the hook, cuts it, feeds it to the grinder. He puts the mince on paper and sets it on the scale. The needle stops at 220.	The grinder. The metal click of the scale.
Cemal takes a pinch of mince back. The needle drops to 200. Nevin watches.	NEVIN: Oh, come on, Cemal. It's twenty grams. CEMAL: You said two hundred.
Nevin leaves the money on the counter. She stops at the door and looks through the glass at the giant shop window across the street.	Coins on the glass. NEVIN: They're opening on Friday, they say.
Cemal doesn't answer. He wipes the knife. The door closes.	The knife rubbing against the cloth. Door bell.
